

Materials posted on this site have been shared by the authors for the purposes of:

1. Facilitating an exchange of information; and
2. Creating a record of the educational programming delivered at sites.

You are free to review these materials and may, with proper attribution, utilize these materials during your assignment. In addition, you will find links for many other resources on this site. If you utilize these sources, please give proper credit to the author(s) and/or the organization(s).

Note: We recommend that authors not submit materials that they may want to copyright or patent (new teaching method or modality) later. Even though the ideas may be your own this prior availability to the general public would likely thwart the attempt to patent or copyright. Please see the HVO KnowNET Terms of Use and Privacy Policy for more details.

Thank you for your support!
